NARROW ESCAPE

From Serious. If Not Fatal, Injuries In Runaway.

The handsome sorrel carriage team of Mr. George Alexander became frightened late Wednesday afternoon and ran away for about two squares before the faithful driver could stop them, he then having to pull them into a milk wagon. The occupants of the carriage were Miss Kate Alexander and her two little sisters, Misses Marion and Elizabeth Clay, all of whom had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injuries. They were driving near the Grand Opera House when one of the horses slipped and in trying to catch himself broke the yoke strap to the pole. This brought the carriage right on their hind legs and frightened them. The driver, who proved himself to be an excellent one, had stopped them when the carriage ran upon them again, and they became uncontrollable and broke into a run down Main street, at the corner of Main and Seventh the driver, with rare presence of mind, pulled into a milk wagon which enabled him, with help of bystanders to stop them. One of the horses fell and injured himself so badly that he died during the night. This was one of the handsomest carriage teams in this community. Besides a few bruises of one of the little Misses they fortunately escaped without injury.

Farmer Arrested.

At Richmond James Turner, a well-known young farmer, manager of the Thomas E. Baldwin farm at Silver Creek, was on Wednesday arrested on a warrant sworn out by M. B. White, a prominent farmer residing in the Southern part of Madison county, charging the theft of two valuable heads of export cattle. Turner was arrested in Berea and taken to Richmond and lodged in jail. This is the third time Turner has been arrested since last April charged with similar offense. His arrest caused a big sensation, as he is very prominent throughout Madison county.

Hargis Given Bail.

The hearing of testimony to decide the question of bail for James Hargis, charged with the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, at Jackson, came to a close yesterday morning, Special Judge Lewis deciding that the prisoner was entitled to bail and fixing his bond at $15,000. William and Floyd Day and Alex Hargis were accepted as sureties and Hargis was released. Callahan and Elbert Hargis were afterwards released on same bond.

Met Horrible Death.

William Mitchell, engineer at the Old Taylor Distillery, in Franklin county, met a horrible death through the blowing out of a cylinder head of a boiler at the distillery. He was scalded to death before relief could reach him, the body being literally cooked by the steam and water. He was a young man and unmarried.

May Extend Line.

It is very probable that the electric car line which now runs from Lexington to Georgetown will be extended shortly from Georgetown to Owenton, the county seat of Owen county.

Another Candidate for Congress.

William P. Swope, of Owenton, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Seventh district to succeed the Hon. South Trimble.

F. P. WALKER

Goes to Cynthiana to Reside—Purchases Interest in Crescent Milling Co.

Mr. F. P. Walker, who for the last seven years has been connected with The Paris Milling Co., of this city, has purchased an interest in the Crescent Milling Co., at Cynthiana, and will on July 1st, move to that city to take an active part in the management of that business.

Mr. Walker is a Parisian in every sense of the word, having been born and reared in this city. There was never a young man leaving home to locate in another city who will go with more good wishes following him than Frank Pullen Walker for his success. He is thoroughly conversed in the milling business and held in the highest esteem for his sterling business integrity. [Paris loses one of her most popular and enterprising young business men, but our loss will be Cynthiana's gain.] We can recommend him to our neighbors as a young man of sterling worth in every sense of the word and an agreeable gentleman.

Jett's Confession.

The full text of the confession by Curtis Jett of his participation in Breckinridge assassinations was given out Tuesday night for publication and is an extraordinary utterance. It implicates James Hargis as chief conspirator in the murder of James Cockrell, James B. Marcum and Dr. B. D. Cox, and goes into detail, giving names of conspirators, dates and places of action.

Jett admitted that he fired the shots into Cockrell's body. He implicates Elbert Hargis, John Abner, John Smith, Jesse Spicer, Bill Britton and others, but says he did not participate in the murder of Cox. He declares Alex Hargis is an "innocent man" and that he knows nothing of any connection B. F. French had with any of the plots except in the capacity of attorney after the arrests.

It is an extraordinary statement and reads like a romance in crime. Jackson is all excitement.

SKIES WEPT FOR JOY

At the Return of the Wanderers to the Old Kentucky Home.

A cloudy sky and a pouring rain greeted the first official day of "Home Coming" Week at Louisville Wednesday morning. Fortunately the greater part of the exercises was scheduled to be held inside the armory on Walnut street and nothing could interfere with them.

The formal opening exercises in the armory were set for 1 o'clock, but long before that hour the armory was filled completely. A. Y. Ford, chairman of the reception committee, mounted the rostrum and called the meeting to order. He introduced Rev. T. M. Hawes, of Louisville, who delivered the invocation and then in a short speech brought forward Mayor Paul C. Barth, who welcomed the visitors in behalf of the city of Louisville.

Mr. Ford then introduced Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, who performed a similar office in behalf of the State of Kentucky, and at the conclusion of his address assumed the gavel as presiding officer of the reunion.

Governor Beckham introduced Henry Watterson, who delivered one of the grandest addresses ever heard in Kentucky. It is said to be the best ever delivered by this talented gentleman.

The crowd in Louisville is something enormous so we are told by several who have come from there. Bourbon County's Commissioner, the Hon. J. T. Hinton, is on the ground and is said to be inviting everybody to come to Paris Tuesday for our Home-Coming. Let us be ready and give the old ex-Bourbons a hearty welcome.

Established in 1881—24 Years of Continuous Publication.Republican Prosperity.

There is supposed to be an unexampled prosperity of the Republican high tariff type in Chicago, and there no doubt is for the protected Beef Barons and the other millionaires who are favored by special interests by virtue of Republican policies. Yet there seems to be a vast deal of poverty that requires the greatest economy to make both ends meet. The Chicago Commons have undertaken to overcome this poverty by teaching girls how to keep house on $10 a week. A large class has just graduated, who are all engaged to be married, who have learned to serve a breakfast for four for 19 cents and a dinner of meat, two vegetables, salad and pudding for 40 cents. It is to be hoped that the teachers of the Commons will add the study of political economy to the curriculum, so that future housekeepers may know that under the present Republican high tariff the cost of living has increased 46 per cent. If the tariff and trust tax was deducted the $10 wages would go a deal further and there would be no need for such pinching economy.

Ashamed of the President.

The Baltimore American and the Washington Star, both Republican journals, have become severe critics of the President. The Star has repeatedly charged him with bad faith and bad manners, hinting even at corrupt practices, in the Barnes-Morris affair. The American, in its issue of May 19th, says:

"America must have lost much in the esteem of nations with this spectacle of the chief executive flinging expletives and directly or indirectly charging bad faith in Senators of the United States, and with the return assaults in true Rough Rider style by members of the Senate. The silence of the political colleagues of the President in this humiliating performance is an admission that no matter how sincere the chief executive has been in his advocacy of the best form of a great measure, his methods of attempting to attain to his ambition have not had the sympathy of those Republicans of the upper house whose names have been household words in their party for long years. His best friends regret that he has not in this matter, but also in many other affairs of vital moment, assumed a dictatorial policy which invaded the prerogatives of the Senate and ill accorded with the exalted conception that all should have of the relations between aims of the government which in this republic should always act in harmony for the best interest of the people, and neither quibble nor quarrel about rights in regard to which there should never have been the least dispute."

Why Not Give Us the Facts?

For telling the truth about embalmed beef fed to our soldier boys, Gen. Miles was hounded and reprimanded by a Republican Administration; now we know that the whole country has been supplied by the Beef Trust with similar foul and diseased provisions and the present Administration has known it for a long time without publishing the facts.

No Fear for Republican Trust Busters.

The Tobacco Trust does not seem to fear our Republican trust busters, for it has enlarged its field of activity by absorbing its rival in the West Indies. For years the Attorney Generals of the United States have had on file in the Department of Justice the evidence of the law-breaking of this combine, but have refused to act upon the evidence presented.

You "Sarcastic Thing."

It is said that one of the crossiest and general all-round mean things in the world is an old bachelor who has been disappointed in love about half dozen times by the fair damsels. We have found one of these "sarcastic [things]" to be an editor, and he thus belches out: "I suppose the Garden of Eden had its drawbacks, but the first thing that greeted old Adam's eyes when he woke up in the morning wasn't a corset hanging over a chair."

Worthy of Note.

It should be noted by Democrats that in all the exposure of corrupt practices and dishonest politics, which has so discredited the Republican party and politicians, that the Democratic party comes through with a clean bill of health.

Can "Point With Pride."

The Democrats can "point with pride" to the fact that the Republican have been forced by public opinion to vote for railroad rate legislation and other issues adopted exclusively in the Democratic national platform.

Dying of Famine

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm.
Myers, of Clearfork, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr.
King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me. Prompt re-

Robbers Returned Victim's Teeth

The gentlemanliness of Raffles fades away beside the noble act of two Des Moines, Ia., highwaymen in returning seven teeth to James Morgan, whom they waylaid and robbed, a few nights ago. The following note accompanied the teeth: "Dear Sir: Please find enclosed the teeth which we unintentionally knocked from your mouth, Tuesday night. We hope you will be able to have them set in a plate. Sincerely yours, A. and B."

TOO EARLY

To Discuss Nomination Says Mr.
Bryan at Berlin.

"This is too sudden," said William J. Bryan, with a laugh, when he was told Monday in Berlin of the adoption of resolutions favoring his nomination for the presidency of the United States in 1908. "This is the first announcement of this news to me," Mr. Bryan continued. "I have been off the main caravan route for some time and have been absorbed in what I have been seeing and doing."

Mr. Bryan had been moving so rapidly since he left Vienna on Saturday that letters and telegrams for him did not reach him until Monday. As to the possibility of his nomination, he had little to say, declaring it is too early to speak of that question, but, taking up the subject of the political requirements, he said:

"Before leaving home I tried to distinguish between democracy and what can properly be called socialism. Democracy recognizes competition as legitimate, and tries to protect the competitive principle from attack. Socialism sees competition as an evil to be eliminated by public ownership and operation of all means of production and distribution. While this distinction between Democracy and socialism should not be overlooked, the Democratic platform must be one of progress and reform, and not merely of opposition to Republican policies or Socialistic ideas. In our fight for the absolute elimination of private monopolies, and for the regulation of corporations in general, it is necessary that the party shall be free from any suspicion of alliance with the corporate interests that have been dominating American politics. To this end campaign contributions must be limited to those who have the public interest to advance. I trust that public sentiment will require all parties to keep their books open so that hereafter no party will be under private obligations to shield corporate offenders."

Good News to Women.

DON'T CROSS YOUR LEGS

And You Will Not Be Attacked by Appendicitis.

"The prevalence of appendicitis is an admitted fact," said a surgeon. "I have myself operated on 719 persons for the disease. Crossing the legs is responsible for a good deal of this trouble."

"That sounds strange, doesn't it?
Nevertheless it is a theory advocated by more than one great surgeon. Indeed, I know some men who say that if people never crossed their legs appendicitis would quite disappear. You see, crossing the leg squeezes and cramps the delicate vermiform appendix. Squeezed and cramped the appendix becomes irritated. Inflammation sets in. Intense pain comes. Then—presto—you are on your back, the sweet and heavy fumes of chloroform are choking you, and the appendicitis specialist bends over you with a sharp knife."

AN EXCELLENT LAW.

Why Bank Failures are Unknown
in Every Part of China.

"It is 900 years since the failure of a bank in China," said a bank examiner.

"Over 900 years ago, in the reign of Hi Hung, a bank failed. Hi Hung had the failure investigated, and to his indignation found it had been due to reckless and shady conduct on the part of the directors and the president. Hi Hung at once issued an edict that the next time a bank failed the heads of its president and directors were to be cut off. This edict, which has never been revoked, has made China's banking institutions the safest in the world."

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST

"Speak for it!" she cried to doggie,
For she knew in her little heart,
That German Syrup, home's great treasure,
Could health and joy impart.

¶The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive.
¶But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free ex-pectoration in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup.
¶We know by the experience of over thirty-five years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders.

STOCK AND CROP.

—Turney Bros.' stable of runners won $1,060 in thirteen days at Toronto, Canada.

—Thomas Henry Clay sold to R. B.
Hutchcraft 40 stock hogs, averaging 120 pounds, at $5.75 per hundred.

—The average weight of hogs received at Chicago the first five months of 1906 was 219 pounds, against 213 pounds the same period last year.

—The export of wool from Argentina during the past year amounted to 463,693 bales of 882 pounds each, against 396,228 bales in 1904.

—At a public sale of Shorthorn cattle held last week by W. H. Schafer, of Keensburg, Ill., 30 females averaged $134, and eight bulls $140. J. A. Ger-laugh sold at public auction at Harsh-man, Ohio, for an average of $270.

—Catesby Woodford, of Montgomery county, has sold to Jonas Weil, of Lexington, three hundred and forty cattle to be shipped East for the butcher market. The cattle averaged 1,225 pounds, bringing $4.65 per cwt., or a grand total of $18,000.

—Thos. L. Roberson, of Bethel, sold this week to T. J. Dunlap, of Versailles, forty head of yearling mules for $120 per head. Mr. Dunlap also purchased of Hughes Atkins, of Montgomery, a pair of three-year-old mare mules for $500.

—Rouble Bros. shipped from Burgin last week to Philadelphia eight carloads of slop-fed cattle from Dowling's distillery, which they sold to Ed. Higgin, of Chicago, at 4¢ cents per pound, there being 163 head; average weight 1,211 lbs. Also sold to Simon Weil 860 head, fed at Curley's and shipped to Baltimore, for 4½ cents per pound.

The Standard may be able to draw a dozen grades of oil from the same tank but it takes a Chicago packer to get three grades of potted chicken from the same calf.

NO CONTEST

But a Plain Business Proposition.

Chance to Make $50 in Gold.

Every Young Lady in Bourbon Eligible.

People are always crying "keep the money at home," and to help carry out this motto the Bourbon News is going to make a plain business proposition to the young ladies of Bourbon county, whereby they can take a trip to any place they desire and at the same time assist in pushing a home enterprise along without any scrambling contest whatever and also at the same time everybody will get value received for their investment. This is no contest where there will be any disappointments. No contest where some young lady will run in the lead until the last minute and then the one who has been running last to come in and defeat her by having her friends to buy enough coupons or subscribe for enough papers, to make her win over the one that has led throughout the contest. Our proposition is no fake, but simply a plain business proposition and is as follows: Any young lady of Bourbon county who will bring to the Bourbon News office on or before July 15th, 1906, 75 cash subscribers we will give her $50 in gold, to be used as she likes.

Any old subscriber who is in arrears and pays up to date and for one year in advance to any of the young ladies who accept our offer will be counted in their list of new ones.

This proposition is open to every young lady in the county, and just as soon as you hand in the seventy-five names with the cash subscriptions, the $50 in gold will be handed to you.

SWIFT CHAMP,
Editor and Proprietor.

Hubert Vreeland for Secretary of State.

So much encouragement has been given Hubert Vreeland, our present active and progressive young Commissioner of Agriculture, to offer himself again as a candidate for a State office, that after mature consideration he has decided to become a candidate for Secretary of State. It certainly looks like he has won for himself the backing of the farmers of Kentucky for whatever he may seek, and in recognition of his efforts in their behalf since his election as State Commissioner thousands of them have urged him to offer for another State office, since the Constitution makes him ineligible for reelection. Mr. Vreeland has accomplished something in an office that was created for the farmers, but which had been of very little benefit to them, and it is refreshing to the Democrats of Kentucky when they find public servants who devote all their time and thought to fulfilling the duties of their office with energy and intelligence.

Mr. Vreeland is the youngest of the present State officials, and until the last State election had never been a candidate for office. Although it was his first appearance he won his nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture by a majority of 26,000, next to the largest majority received by any candidate in the State primary, although opposed by two prominent candidates, who made most vigorous campaigns. Mr. Vreeland has a personal acquaintance probably not surpassed by any other young man in Kentucky, extending to scores an hundreds in every one of the 119 counties in Kentucky. He is a brother of John W. Vreeland, publisher of the Farmer's Home Journal, and at the head of the Democratic Executive Committee in Louisville and Jefferson County, and of Graham Vreeland, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, who for ten years was the Legislative correspondent of the Courier-Journal at Frankfort.

The Democratic nominations for State offices will be made again by State primary in November, and Mr. Vreeland has begun an active campaign. Up to the present time he has no opposition.

W. J. RANSON

Paris Defeats Lexington.

In rather a onesided game Paris defeated Lexington Tuesday afternoon by a score of 14 to 4.

The visitors failed to score until the sixth inning, when three errors and a timely hit by Strader brought in their first run. They scored two in the eighth on two hits and a base on balls, and one run in the ninth on a single by H. Guyn and a threebagger by Crouch.

Paris started the run, getting in the opening inning, scoring two runs on a base on balls, a sacrifice, a single and a double. They added five more in the second, as follows: Lutz was hit by a pitched ball, Swearingen singled, Betcher walked, Willinger sacrificed, the ball being fumbled, on which two runs crossed the rubber. A base on balls, two hits and a sacrifice added three more.

The locals sent in another in the sixth, two in the seventh, and three in the eighth.

Batteries—Lexington, H. Guyn and Crouch; Paris, E. Swearingen and Meoller.

Hits—Lexington, 7; Paris, 13.

Struck out—By Swearingen, 10; H. Guyn, 7.

Base on balls—Off Swearingen, 1; H. Guyn, 3.

Umpire—Dempsey.

Don't forget to attend the return game between these two teams this afternoon on Paris grounds. Lexington has strengthened their team since Tuesday's game and it will be a fine game to-day.

Paris will go to Lexington Sunday.

MISS ETHEL THOMSON

Succumbs to the Dreaded Typhoid Fever After Lingerin Illness.

Miss Ethel Adair Thomson, aged 18 years, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt A. Thomson, Tuesday at noon, after a lingering illness with typhoid fever. Miss Thomson was an only child and idolized by her parents, in fact, she was loved and admired by all who knew her. Everything that medical skill could do was done to save this bright and precious young life, but the Heavenly Father thought it best to take her to a fairer and brighter world. We should not question his motive for He surely knows best. She was a handsome and bright young lady with a lovely disposition, and a favorite in a large circle of friends. She graduated with the honors of her class from the Paris High School last year. It is another instance where a shining mark has been taken from our midst.

The funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Second Presbyterian church, conducted by her pastor, Dr. E. H. Rutherford. The pall bearers were:

Active—Talbot Roberson, Wm. Ardery, Harry Horton, Carl Foster, Douglas Thomas, Jr., Clay Thomas. Honorary—Misses Leslie Turney, Janie Marsh, Jennie Howard, Nellie Long, Elizabeth Bayless, Helen Daugherty.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Criminal Docket Called—Grand Jury Has Already Made Three Reports—Number of Indictments Filed.

Bourbon Circuit Court reconvened Tuesday morning. Judge R. L. Stout called the criminal docket, the first case being that of D. D. Connors, for permitting a game of craps on his premises and in connection with his saloon. He plead guilty and was fined $500 and his saloon license revoked.

H. J. McClure, for carrying concealed deadly weapons, plead guilty and was assessed $25 and ten days in jail.

The case against Newton Current, upon the charge of gaming, was then gone into, resulting in a hung jury.

The case of C. D. Lucas, on the same charge was entered into, resulting in hung jury.

The grand jury on Wednesday brought in an indictment against Dr. W. H. Current for feloniously setting up and operating a poker game. This is the first instance where the felony statue for gaming has been used in this county. Dr. Current is the father of Newton Current, one of the proprietors of the Turf Exchange and Cafe, and is a cancer specialist of considerable note. He had a suite of rooms over the place. He is an old Confederate soldier, past sixty and in declining health.

Other indictments filed were: Cornelius Hickman, willful murder; Abe Browning, grand larceny; Will Fisher, willful and malicious shooting; Jesse Lewis, horse stealing; Robert Gibson unlawfully and feloniously detaining a woman; John English, willful and malicious shooting; same, carrying concealed weapons; Nat Gay, willful and malicious shooting; same, unlawfully holding and pointing a deadly weapon; same, carrying concealed deadly weapons; Aaron Kenney, housebreaking.

The following cases were disposed of Wednesday. Hugh Alexander plead guilty to the charge of selling liquor to a minor and was given a fine of $50. Porter & George, on a similar charge, were fined $50 each on two counts.

The case of O. H. Peddicor, indicted for suffering gaming, was then called and resulted in a verdict of guilty, the fine being placed at $500 and a revocation of saloon license.

John Froggy Taylor, a negro from Millersburg, was then placed on trial for shooting and wounding without killing Walker Allen, a negro, from the same place. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

From the above proceedings in Court it will be seen that two saloons are practically put out of business, or the present proprietors at least. The reform movement or rather the enforcement of the law in this community began on last January 1st, when Mayor O'Brien was sworn into office, his first official act was ordering the saloons to close. Closely following the newly elected County Attorney T. E. Moore, Jr., made a statement that all gambling must cease in this community, and it now seems that Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin has taken hold of the reins and is driving hard, determined to win out for the law and order. The move started is not waning but looks as if it would be carried on to a finish.

The trial of H. J. McClure for shooting and wounding occupied the entire day yesterday in court. The instructions will be given to the jury this morning.

MESSAGES IN STRAW

THEY MAY BE FOUND WRITTEN ALL OVER GREAT BRITAIN.

The Various Warnings and Notices That Are Denoted by the Wisps. There is Quite an Extensive Language in These Signs of Straw.

When a farm servant in Perthshire and other parts of Scotland is seeking a new situation he doesn't advertise in the local newspaper or even apply to farmers in the neighborhood. He just waits for "feeling" day, as the market at Lady day and Michaelmas is called. Then, with a wisp of straw either between his teeth or in his hat, he strolls up and down the market place.

That piece of straw serves the purpose of a sandwich board. Without a word being uttered, it is a sufficient intimation that its bearer is a plowman, stableman or other farm worker and is seeking employment with a new master. A similar custom still prevails in the north of England and in some parts of Ireland.

Straw as a sign that certain things are "for sale" is frequently used. Plaited into a horse's tail, with the end curled up, it has such a meaning, but when the plait is partly unwound and allowed to hang downward it denotes that the horse has recently changed ownership.

A wisp of straw fastened to the mainmast of a fishing boat or a pleasure yacht in many districts is a sign that its owner is desirous of selling it. On the Thames watermen place straw in the stems of their craft for sale.

Dealers in fowls and eggs in the north of Ireland know without any waste of time whether farmers have any of the produce they seek to buy. Farmers having these for sale erect a pole, with straw tied to its top, on their grounds as near as possible to a public road. Cheeses when sold at Chester's and other cheese fairs can instantly be detected by the handful of straw on top of them.

An even more popular use for straw is as a warning of danger. When bridges are being repaired it is customary to hang a bundle of straw from an arch so that those passing beneath it shall be warned against falling bricks and such like debris.

A few wisps tied to a horse's tail denotes that it is a "kicker," while straw for the same purpose is tied to its stall post in the stable. To warn pedestrians who would cross a pathway running through their fields that a vicious bull is grazing there, Kent farmers fasten a bundle of straw to the gate leading to it. Some farmers also give further warning by tying straw to the horns of the bad tempered animal.

Tramps in the south of Ireland fight shy of entering farmyards whose gates are adorned with wisps of straw. It is sufficient notice that fierce watchdogs are kept for tramps and trespassers. As a warning to skaters in the Fen districts straw is strewn about broken and dangerous ice, and should there be any holes in its otherwise sound surface these are marked by straw being stuck lengthwise into them.

Londoners frequently meet with straw as a sign of warning. When wood paving is being repaired or the pathway is being dug up for any purpose iron rods to which a rope is attached mark off the dangerous area. Very often a wisp of straw is fastened to each rod as a further precaution to pedestrians. Without the straw, if the background were dark and the day were dull, shortsighted and absent-minded people might not be aware of their danger till the ropes were reached. Straw, too, is frequently hung outside a warehouse to denote that the crane is being used and to so warn passersby.

Huntsmen in the home counties know directly they see straw tied to the top of a tall red pole to "ware barbed wire." To warn hunting parties off fields newly sown with wheat or clover roots it is customary also with farmers in central and northern England to bind bundles of straw to their fences and hedges.

During the shooting season on the big Yorkshire moors tall sticks are placed at intervals along the pathways that traverse the gorse and ling and decorated with wisps of straw. It is a warning to the peasantry that the "sporting gentry" are out shooting and that there is danger in crossing these particular paths. Miners frequently warn their comrades of dangerous parts of the workings by throwing straw about the ground.

In Germany workmen repairing the roofs of houses hang a bundle of straw from the top window as a danger signal to passersby, while bricklayers in Norway and Denmark tie a similar bundle to the top of a scaffold pole to signify that the chimney pots are set and their work is finished. In this country it is customary in fixing fireplaces in new houses to place straw within the grate. This denotes that the masonry is not sufficiently dry to withstand the heat of a fire.

A bundle of straw left in a field in Sussex is a sign that the gleaners are not yet allowed to gather the corn left by the reapers. When wheat is being sown, a stick crowned with straw is put up at each end of the field in order to guide the sower and prevent him going twice over the same ground.

Tied to hedges and fences, straw is yet again used by surveyors as a guide in measuring allotments.

To denote when roads which are the property of the crown are closed to vehicular traffic large bundles of straw are suspended at each end of the thoroughfare. Fastened to a pole stuck in a newly sown field, a bundle of straw serves as a scarecrow. Secured to the roof of a farmhouse in many parts of Ireland, it is an invitation to passersby to enter and drink the health of the bride and bridegroom who are within.

A Storm Above the Clouds.

Professor John Wise, the eminent aeronaut, who lost his life in making a balloon ascension on Sept. 28, 1879, gave the following description of a thunderstorm which he once viewed from the "top side." "The view of a stormcloud from above is one of the most interesting sights ever beheld by mortal man. A storm viewed from above the clouds has the appearance of ebullition. The upper surface of the cloud is bulged upward and outward and has the resemblance of a vast sea of boiling, upheaving snow. Immediately above the stormcloud the air is not so cold as it is in the clearer atmosphere above or in the cloud itself. The falling of the rain can be distinctly heard, making a noise like a waterfall over a precipice. The thunder heard above a stormcloud is not loud, and the flashes of lightning appear like streaks of intensely white light on the surface of the gray colored vapor."

A Life of Freedom.

People sometimes think how delightful it would be to be quite free. But a fish, as Ruskin says, is freer than a man, and, as for a fly, it is "a black incarnation of freedom." A life of so called pleasure and self indulgence is not a life of real happiness or true freedom. Far from it. If we once begin to give way to ourselves we fall under a most intolerable tyranny. Other temptations are in some respects like that of drink. At first, perhaps, it seems delightful, but there is bitterness at the bottom of the cup. Men drink to satisfy the desire created by previous indulgence. So it is in other things. Repetition soon becomes a craving, not a pleasure. Resistance grows more and more painful. Yielding, which at first, perhaps, afforded some slight and temporary gratification, soon ceases to give pleasure and, even if for a time it procures relief, ere long becomes odious itself.

Died Standing.

The incident of Ratisbon—a French officer, though mortally wounded, rides back to Napoleon, reports the capture of the city and then falls from his saddle dead—is paralleled by a story of Gettysburg. An officer of the Sixth Wisconsin regiment walked up to Colonel Dawes, who was in command—Colonel Bragg was in Washington on crutches. The officer was very erect and very pale. Dawes and Doubleday both thought he was coming with a report or to receive orders. But he was not. He had a favor to ask. "Colonel," he said to Dawes, "will you tell the folks at home I died as a man and a soldier should?" Then he unbuttoned his coat. His whole side was shot away. It was his last effort. He died standing.

A Nose Tax.

A "nose tax" was in the ninth century exacted by the Danes from the householders in Ireland. It was so called not because it was levied on noses, but from the fact that a failure to pay was punished by slitting the nose from tip to eyebrow. It was continued during thirteen years, when the householders, objecting to this treatment of their nasal ornaments, rose in rebellion, massacred all the Danes in Ireland and put an end to the nose slitting.

BLACK ROD OF THE LORDS.

His Last Public Appearance as an Executive Officer.

Black Rod is an important and picturesque functionary of parliament. He is at once the policeman of the house of lords and the parliamentary messenger of the sovereign. He executes the warrants issued by the upper chamber for the arrest of the persons who have been adjudged guilty of a breach of its privileges or a contempt of its dignities. But in these days the curiosity of the public or its love of sensation is never piqued by the appearance of Black Rod in the role of a policeman. Indeed, it is nearly a century now since a poor, trembling wretch stood, in the custody of Black Rod, at the bar of the house of lords, charged with having outraged its awful majesty. He was a tradesman of Westminster.

One winter evening, after he had put up the shutters of his shop, he strolled across Old Palace yard to hear a debate in the house of lords. He had with him an umbrella, which he deposited in the charge of one of the doorkeepers before he entered the strangers' gallery. He never saw the article again. Another stranger, yielding to a too common weakness of frail humanity, carried it off while its rightful owner, trustful of the might of the imperial parliament to protect, at least within its own sacred precincts, the property of its subjects, was drinking in political wisdom from the lips perhaps of the Duke of Wellington.

The tradesman of Westminster was naturally indignant over the loss of his umbrella, but the expression of his feelings assumed a form highly subversive of the ancient privileges of parliament. He actually issued a process against the doorkeeper of the house of lords for the recovery of the value of the lost article. This was more than the house of lords could stand. One of its doorkeepers summoned to appear as a defendant in a court of law! Black Rod was dispatched to arrest the daring shopkeeper, who was brought forthwith to the bar and soundly rated by the lord chancellor on his presumption in outraging the dignities of the house of lords because of the loss of a miserable umbrella. Happily he was not consigned to the tower. He humbly apologized for his conduct, promised to take no further action against the doorkeeper and after another severe reprimand was escorted by Black Rod to Old Palace yard and there discharged. That was the last public appearance of Black Rod as the executive officer of the house of lords.—London Chronicle.

Butterfly Farms.

Most people when they look at a magnificent cabinet of butterflies, gleaming and glowing with a hundred iridescent hues, think that each butterfly was caught by hand—caught after a chase of a mile or two under a net or a hat. As a matter of fact, butterflies are raised on little farms, like chickens. There is such a steady butterfly demand that it pays men to raise them. These men, experts in the employ of museums, as a rule, know larvae as a chicken farmer knows eggs, and they have no difficulty in selling at a good profit all the butterflies they grow. The stock room of a butterfly farmer is a rare and beautiful sight. It is a room of glass filled with sunshine, and in the brilliant light hundreds of the loveliest butterflies flutter and float. In the profound silence their colors seem to sing, so bright are they, so splendid.—Minneapolis Journal.

Machinery of Memory.

The machinery of memory was thus interestingly described by an authority on the brain: "The act of remembering something," he said, "involves a distinct change in the brain substance. The thing to be remembered is recorded by a little nerve cell. The first time the cell does its work an impression is made upon it. But that impression is apt to wear off unless the action of the cell is repeated, and the often this is the case the more fixed becomes the impression, or 'cell memory,' as it is called. Suppose that the work of this particular cell is to enable you to recognize a certain smell. If the impression is made but once, the cell may fail to retain it, but if it is repeated several times a lasting impression will be made, and you will recognize the particular odor when you meet with it again."

Southern Wit.

In the early days of the civil war, says Mrs. D. G. Wright in "A Southern Girl in '61," many northern senators were especially violent in their denunciations of the seceding states, occasionally much to the amusement of their listeners.

On one occasion a western senator ended a speech by declaring that were certain threatened events to occur he would "leave this country and join some other nation. Even the Comanches he would prefer to this government in such a case."

Senator Wigfall of Texas rose in answer and stated in a tone of grave remonstrance that he trusted the senator would consider well before he took such a step, "for the Comanches had already suffered too much from contact with the whites."

DIED SUDDENLY

OF HEART DISEASE

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitome of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonin (medicinal principle, extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonin unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery" not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

THE FAIR

The Lowest Prices that Are Fair and Right.

We sell all our goods, no matter what their grade or kind, at the lowest prices that are fair and right—fair and right to us, fair and right to you. We might, in many and many a case, buy some poorer quality that would appear every bit as good as the article we offer, and be able to sell it at a lower price. But we have no use for that sort of "bargains,"—for articles whose lowness of price is due to some fault of make or material. Low prices are the very life and soul of our business; but there is a limit of safety below which we never go. Everything in this store is good, honest, dependable. You never need have any doubt or hesitation about taking advantage of any low prices that we offer.

Our Washington Letter.

BY EARL W. MAYO.

Washington, June 14.—Just when everybody believed that the most vexed piece of legislation was well out of the way, the rate bill has been returned to conference again after an acrimonious debate in the Senate. There is little doubt that its return was made compulsory by certain changes the conference deemed necessary, but which were shown to be ridiculous once the searching debate laid them bare. The principal cause for complaint was the substitution of an iron-clad anti-pass clause, prohibiting the issuance of free transportation even to railway employees. The folly of this radical action was shown up in the Senate when it was declared that under the new provision the crews of trains would have to purchase tickets before they could go out on the road in pursuance of their duty. As a result the Kentucky and Tennessee Congressmen were inundated by telegrams from railroad employees in their States. There are several other changes in the bill that have aroused criticism. The conferences plainly exceeded their authority in injecting new legislation into the bill, the Republicans and Democrats alike join in repudiating their action. The unfortunate feature of the affair is that it may result in reopening a question thought settled.

The fact that the militia of Kentucky is about to go into camp of its own, according to Governor Beckham, will not admit of that state's soldiers joining the regulars in the joint camp at Indianapolis. The War Department regrets that the Kentuckians will be absent, for important results are expected from the joint camps.

Now it is the ex-slaves that want to raid Uncle Sam's strongbox. A committee from the Ex-Slaves National Convention called on Vice President Fairbanks this week and presented a petition containing thousands of names, requesting that Congress enact legislation. It is said that many of the signers are whites, who believe that such pensions would increase the circulation of money in the South and at the same time relieve many sections of the support of these negroes.

Members of the Senate press gallery are singing a song to the tune of "Everybody Works But Father" which is causing much amusement among members of both houses of Congress. It deals with incidents of the administration that have marked the present term as one of the most strenuously sensational in years. The last verse to be added runs:

"Everybody lies but Roosevelt,
And he lies around all day,
They think he's made of iron
But he's only common clay."
The chorus to this verse is differently phrased from the others, to carry out the beautiful sentiment. It goes:
"Tillman—Bailey—Chandler,
By them our idol fell,
Oh, everybody lies but Roosevelt;
They do, like—" (Pause, and them basso) "Oh, Well!"

This touching and poetic effusion is credited to a member of the Gridiron Club. The supposed author is too modest to acknowledge paternity however, although President Roosevelt is said to have laughed heartily when the verse was first brought to his notice.

The enormous increase in traffic on the Great Lakes has encouraged the advocates of increased federal activity in the development of the nation's waterways. The National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which is at the head and front of the movement, believes that the country is awakening to a realization of the importance of utilizing the rivers of the United States as a means of cheap and effective transportation for the constantly growing traffic of the country. With navigable streams both internal and export business would be stimulated in a remarkable degree. Fleets of fast steamers of great capacity would spring up like magic, these advocates of such improvement contend, once Congress shows that it realizes the importance of such work. These steamers would supply a means of carriage both efficient and inexpensive, and would permit of the transfer of produce and commodities that now find only limited markets. Congressmen who are out for reelection this year declare they are surprised at the growth of feeling in favor of such development work, and they expect their constituents, in a number of districts, will demand that they support extensive legislation for rivers and harbors improvement. This is especially the case with those members of Congress from the Middle West and South.

The remarkable strides made by the rural free mail service is set forth in a statement just issued by the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General. The report declares that the service reaches 3,202,730 families and 13,562,457 individual patrons. The demand for the extension of the service is great, the total number of petitions for new routes up to the first of the current month being 53,357, upon 14,527 of which adverse reports have been made. The number of petitions pending June 1, was 3,233, while the number not acted upon is set forth as being 2,875.

Three Girls Smothered in Trunk.

At the close of a four-hour search for her three young girls, Mrs. Adeford Van Slette, of Kankakee, Ill., a few days ago, found them dead from suffocation in a trunk in an upper room. The children, who had been playing about the house, crawled into the trunk, the lid of which fell and latched.

Buried alive Before Mother's Eyes

Waiving his hand to his mother as she sat on the porch, Melville, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lytle, of Jackson, Mich., leaped gaily into a sand pit, where he had been playing, and was entombed by a sudden cave-in. Rescuers found him dead, buried under five feet of sand.

Bridge Whist Caused a Tragedy.

"Bridge whist ought to be graven on his tombstone," said a colleague in reference to the recent suicide of Robert Adams, Jr., representative to Congress from the Second district of Pennsylvania. During the past two years he lost $30,000, and the greater part of it at bridge whist.

A FOUL CRIME REVEALED.Teeth Identified After 8 Years as Those of Missing Girl.

A general feeling of uneasiness is felt all over Clay county, Ky., because of the returning of an indictment at Manchester Saturday against James Fisher, charging him with the willful murder of Hattie Deaton, who mysteriously disappeared about eight years ago and has never been seen since.

Shortly before the girl disappeared Alex. Fisher, a brother of James Fisher, killed John Collins near the head of Pigeon Roost Creek, and the Deaton girl was an important witness in the case. When last seen she was in company with Alex Fisher. On the night after the girl was last seen an old outhouse burned in the neighborhood, and human bones were found in the ashes.

The jaw bone and teeth of the victim have for several years been in the possession of Dr. George F. Lucas, a dentist, of London, Ky. The teeth have been identified as those of the Deaton girl.

The indictment against Fisher is credited to the efforts of some of the Philpot clam, who are old enemies of the Fishers. The Philpots and Fishers are very numerous in Clay county and it is feared a bloody feud may result.

Fisher was at home when notified that he had been indicted, and said that no officers need attempt to arrest him, but that if they would wait until he got ready he will go to Manchester and surrender. It is believed that one of the foulest murder plots ever known in the Kentucky mountains will come to light after having been concealed for more than eight years.

In Birmingham, England, they are manufacturing power from garbage. Some of it is probably strong enough when they gather it on a hot day.

Declines to Talk.

"I decline to talk," replied A. G. Morgan to a reporter for the Lexington Herald when he was asked if he had a statement to make regarding the charges made against him by Attorney C. J. Bronston. The charges referred to were made in the petition filed Tuesday by Mr. Bronston in which he sues Mr. Morgan, J. H. Patterson, W. T. Browning, and Morehead & Co. to recover $29,150. In the petition Mr. Bronston alleges that he was defrauded out of $29,150 by the persons named. Mr. Morgan said he had not gone so far in the matter as to employ attorneys.

Three Men Shot to Death in Louisville.

A visit paid by a trio of men to the apartment of a woman in Louisville resulted Wednesday evening in the death of all three at the hands of Clarence Sturgeon, her lover. W. J. Bruner, aged twenty; H. J. Clasby, aged forty-five, and an unknown man about forty five years, all went down before the deadly aim of Sturgeon, a young man of twenty-one.

According to Sturgeon's story, the men appeared Wednesday afternoon at the room of Daisy Jackson and called for her. Sturgeon, who was within, denied them admittance. He claims that they were boisterous and began kicking the doors. Two attempted to draw revolvers when he opened the door and confronted them. He immediately began firing, every one of the bullets taking effect.

"Lid" Must Stay On.

The Court of Appeals by a divided court, refused to issue a writ to compel Police Judge McCann, of Louisville, to redocket the Sunday closing saloon cases, but held that the Sunday closing statute is constitutional and must be enforced.

The decision means the "lid" must stay on in Louisville.
